It's Motion, which is from South to North, is retrograde, going contrary to the Series of the Signs, and it slackens every Day In 24 Hours it does not traverse above Half a Degree in right Ascension, and as much in Declension. From the Day it was first observed, to the 10th Instant, it had advanced 12 in right Ascension, and 20 in Declination. It is not luminous; so that it is imperceptible to the naked Eye: It is only a Nebulosity of about 6 Minutes in Diameter, in the Center of which is a bright Light.

AND THE HEIR OF HIS LOYNE,

NEW-YORK, December 26.

Extract of a Letter from Pensacola, October 5, 1763.

"The Spaniards, and Indians who lived with them, are all gone from hence to Havannah or Vera Cruz, and left Col. Prevost, with his battalion of about 300 men, in possession of this fort and a few houses. Great Part of the lands without the fort are purchased by Mr. Noble, who is employed by some great men; he is very busy in clearing the grounds, and has done more already that may than has been done in a hundred years before by the Spaniards, who never durst, for fear of the Indians, venture out of the reach of their Guns, and depended, for provisions, entirely on the French at Mobille. This fort is a stockade situated on a sandy Beach, the harbour is very good, we had never less than four fathom coming in, and the bay is fine and large, abounding with oysters and all sorts of fish. Some weeks ago about 150 Indians came here armed, demanding presents; they had all their kegs filled with rum, and said they would soon return for more. They always kept the Spaniards in terror, and when they were sparing, the Indians would take a few scalps to put them in mind of their duty, on which the bounty used to be increased. We are in daily expectation of the 55th regiment to relieve the battalion now here, the men will go to New-York, but Col. Prevost believes he will be obliged to winter in Carolina. The 22d and 34th regiments commanded by Major Farmer are here bound to Mobille to take possession of that garrison.

"Mobille is about 60 miles by land distant from this place, but two large rivers, which must be passed, render the journey tedious. The town is situated on the river about 30 miles from the sea, is irregular, but the houses pretty good; the French inhabitants very complaisant, and many of them say they do not intend to remove; they had all their supplies from New-Orleans, and the war has greatly impoverished them; every species of European goods was incredibly high, a hat that cost only three shillings sterling being sold for thirty dollars, &c. Mobille bar has no more than ten feet water. The fort which they call Conde is strong and well built of brick. The lands are very good, but they raise only live stock and Indian corn: There is great plenty of fish and game of all kinds."

Extract of a Letter from Mobille, Oct. 27th, 1763.

"On the 20th inst. the British troops took possession of this place. Most of the French inhabitants it is thought will remain, if they are indulged with a civil government. The French are greatly in arrears to the Indians, and its said the governor of New Orleans is to have a meeting with them here in about three weeks, in order to settle matters."

By a Letter from Schenectady, dated the Beginning of this Month, we are informed, That Sir William Johnson was then greatly engaged with a large Number of Indians, who came to assure him of their Attachment to the English, and to make Offers of accompanying his Majesty's Troops against the Enemy, whenever they shall be called upon; than which Nothing can be more conducive to the Security and Success of an Army marching thro' an Indian Country, which otherwise would meet with constant Ambuscades and Opposition.

The Ship Edward, Capt. Ritchie, arrived here on Sunday last, in 6 Weeks, from London.

Extract of a Letter from London, dated October 11, 1763.

"We have had no Summer, nothing but continued Rains, and chilling Weather. The oldest Man does not remember such a Season. We have not, literally, had one Day comfortably warm. Our Harvests all over the Kingdom have been exceeding unfavourable. Grain has got to an immense Price, and is daily rising. Both Sides are mustering their Forces against the Meeting of Parliament, which is fixed for the 15th of November. It is expected that there will be a sharp Conflict between the Little Indians and the Big Indians. Stocks are very low, which is owing to the bad Prospect of a lasting Peace; and the great Bankruptcies in Holland and Germany, the Scarcity of Money, and the Lowness of all Credit, are not to be described. It is given out, that some Regulations in our American Affairs are to take Place at the next Meeting of Parliament.

Extract of a Letter dated London, October 31.

"The Parliament is to meet the 15th. It is expected that the Expulsion of Wilkes will be the first Business. This early Meeting has been advised by the L—d P———r, for the Purposes of the present Ministry, the Stability of which is much doubted. The North Britons are continued with somewhat more Moderation than formerly. There is great Agitation among the Politicians, great Expectations, and great Fears.

Frederick County, January 1.

AS it may be thought prudent a Man to wind up his worldly Affairs at the [illegible] Sixty Years, and in order to support my Character, Credit, and Fortune, which are (I fear) [illegible] pair'd from my Indulgences, I will have the [illegible] of the various Claims, arising as well under [illegible] Sheriffalty, as under the preceding one, [illegible] if the speediest Execution of the Law [illegible] sufficient, for the Collection of such as shall [illegible] paid after the Tenth Day of February next.
